Prepared by: Aaron Fleming, Secretary

8 a.m.: Community News

- July meeting minutes and financial statement approved.
- We need to review and amend our bylaws. Need to form an exploratory committee. Jeremy and Mindy will form committee to revamp the bylaws and make recommendations for change.
- College Hill Emergency Business Fund and member benefits. Coreless will lead a member benefits committee. Let's reach out to her to let us know what benefits we can offer.

8:15 a.m.: Round Robin

- Mindy Nagle, College Hill Pilates & Physical Therapy: Still seeing patients in person with lots of precautions. Amanda Wellman, Wellman Acupuncture, acupuncturist who is leasing her space.
- Karen Hartman, CPA: Business has not been a problem. Still not out of tax season. Working with business clients to get them on track for 2020 because they forgot about the reporting part during the shutdown. Have some extra posters to hand out.
- Jeremy Boerger, Boerger Consulting: Let me know if you have any contacts for businesses who have 500+ employees. Working on a book which is moving along.
- Aaron Fleming, College Hill Yoga / Flemco Designs: Online classes because it's not safe to be together inside a room for a long period of time. Finding new ways to bolster the online offerings. Received emergency grant from CHCURC which helped to pay the rent. Flemco Designs is the same and doing well.
- Corleiss Berry, Chozen 4 U: Doing pretty well—have some new customers which is exciting. If they don't have a mask we provide one for them. People are not dressing up as much so we are selecting more casual attire.
- Terry Owen, Silk Road Textiles. Tried to have in person classes but scaled that back. Trying some online knit alongs and there online events. Shopping by appointment which seems to be working well.
- Marchele: Naomi Simone Bath and Body Creations, working from home in College Hill. Looking for connections.
